Testimonies

TMPC was really helpful in our relationship especially in the session of expectations after marriage. I've always had marriage phobia and now I am more secure and confident knowing what to expect and not just wandering in the dark.

TMPC Apr/May 2010

TMPC was great because we discussed many items with each other in our own privacy that we would not have discussed otherwise. We would have simply assumed so many things about each other and that would have led to conflict. Hearing from experienced couples like Niki and Sila as well as others throughout the programme is also really helpful because the couples shared the mistakes they made and how they overcame the problems. This is helpful to ensure we do not repeat the mistakes that they have made but rather learn from it. Great learning experience about each other I must say.
